Thanjavur Maharaja Serfoji's Sarasvati Mahal Library and Research Centre

Maharaja Serfoji's Sarasvati Mahal Library and Research Centre Thanjavur Maharaja Serfoji's Sarasvati Mahal Library and Research Centre, one of the ancient libraries in India, established in the year 1535, registered phenomenal growth under the patronage of Maharaja Serfoji (1798-1832). Thanjavur Maharaja Serfoji's Sarasvati Mahal Library and Research Centre which has been functioning under the control of the District Collector of Thanjavur from 1918, has been registered in 1986 under the Tamil Nadu Societies Registration Act, 1975. This library has about 47,334 palm leaves and manuscripts in Tamil, Telugu, Sanskrit, Marathi and English languages. In addition to this, it contains a collection of books, maps, paintings on all aspects of literature, art and culture.

Knowledge of the royals

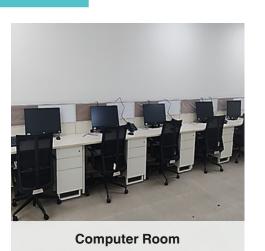

Starting as Thanjavur's Nayak king's royal library, the Saraswathi Mahal Library is the hub of the region's glorious past. Maratha rulers captured Thanjavur in 1675 and until 1855, the Royal Library was developed. Serfoji, the most notable Maratha king of the region took special interest in enriching the culture of the Royal Library. He was an eminent scholar in several branches of arts and learning. It was German Reverent Schwartz who influenced Serfoji to develop a keen interest in studies. Serfoji employed priests several collect, buy, and copy а humungous work from all renowned Sanskrit Centres of Northern India and other far-off areas. Since 1918, the state of Tamil Nadu holds the possession of the Saraswathi Mahal Library. Officially, the library is named in remembrance of the Great Royal Maratha Patron.
